

Paranormal Activity Plagues 85-year-old Garage in East Brady

Butler County resident Ron Kirkpatrick never works alone in his garage along Third Avenue in East Brady.

Several spirits are said to occupy the 85-year-old garage, which formerly housed Quaker State and Atlantic service stations, according to Kirkpatrick, 46, of Mars, a retired member of the Air Force.

Today marks exactly eight years since Kirkpatrick purchased the building, which sat vacant for nearly a decade prior. It has yielded multiple, unexplainable encounters with the paranormal, he said.

"I'm not into the paranormal at all, but the paranormal is into me, I guess," Kirkpatrick said. "There are people who have come in here and seen things and won't step foot in the building again.

"A lot of people have seen stuff, and it seems to go on all the time."

Several unexplained events happen in the shop, from items being moved out of place, to the radio and lights being turned on and off, and the security system triggering randomly, he said.
