

Paranormal Pop Culture Update for April 24th, 2015

Premiering on TV this Week

The series premiere of Time Traveling With Brian Unger premieres on Monday, April 27th on the Travel Channel. Brian Unger goes where ordinary travelers can't, using eye-popping CGI to visually travel back in time and tell stories you won't find in guidebooks. Brian serves as the ultimate tour guide, taking locals to iconic landmarks and revealing histories we never knew. Check out the first episode below!

Out on DVD this Week

Fighting back after four years as a yakuza sex-slave, a woman (Salma Hayek) matches wits and weaponry with a legion of killers who are out to collect the bounty on the heads of her and her family. This Mystery and Suspense movie, Everly, was out on DVD as of April 21, 2015. Everly is rated R, with mixed reviews. Check out the trailer below, and let us know what you think!

Books in Publication this Week

The new Sci-Fi book Survival Quest (The Way of the Shaman: Book #1) begins in Barliona. A virtual world jam-packed with monsters, battles - and predictably, players. Millions of them come to Barliona, looking forward to the things they can't get in real life: elves and magic, dragons and princesses, and unforgettable combat. The game has become so popular that players now choose to spend months online without returning home. In Barliona, anything goes: you can assault fellow players, level up, become a mythical hero, a wizard or a legendary thief. The only rule that attempted to regulate the game demanded that no player was allowed to feel actual pain.

But there's an exception to every rule. For a certain bunch of players, Barliona has become their personal hell. They are criminals sent to Barliona to serve their time. They aren't in it for the dragons' gold or the abundant loot. All they want is to survive the virtual inferno. They face the ultimate survival quest.

Survival Quest (The Way of the Shaman: Book #1) was out in Kindle Edition on April 20th, 2015.
